Welcome from the Dean

All students, faculty and staff,

Welcome back!!

I am excited to begin a new year in Seaton Hall and APDWest, the latter in its last year as our 'second' home.

I hope everyone had an enjoyable and fruitful summer. As we begin the academic year I hope everyone will consider the following in ensuring a safe, successful and enriching fall and spring at Seaton Hall and APDWest.

First, please work to maintain a professional environment in our facilities and on campus. If each of us works to be not only unselfish, but selfless in our actions, we can accomplish much more individually and collectively in advancing the reputation of APDesign than if we act otherwise. As design professionals, it is important that our behavior reflects our commitment to social equity. As I have said on numerous occasions, our programs are only as good as our least capable graduate. Be unselfish in helping others by sharing your knowledge and passion in working with them to overcome their stumbling blocks. Take it from me and all of our alumni, you will look back on these days longingly so do your utmost to enjoy them now! The camaraderie of the APDesign experience is not easily duplicated.

Second, work securely. Do your part to ensure the safety of your colleagues by keeping a watchful eye on belongings, keeping studio doors locked, not working or walking home alone, and making sure to abide by the limited access to our facilities. I am fully aware that the limited late night hours at APDWest are among the least popular decisions I have had to make in my seven years here. I wish I could keep the facility open all evening but striving for the safety of members of the APDesign community is goal number one. Besides, the work I saw from this past year showed the level of development and maturity we have come to expect of our students at each level. There are no excuses for anything but superb performance.

Finally, dedicate yourself to your work knowing that your individual and collaborative accomplishments accumulate into an impressive dossier representing APDesign. Take advantage of the uniqueness of APDesign where you share spaces with members of all the design and planning professions and where we not only design and plan, we make, fabricate, build and lead.

This is a great place to learn, teach and serve. We embark on this year knowing that next fall we will have a facility structured to promote our collaborative model and interdisciplinary nature. Our new complex will be the model, and platform for the effective execution of our land grant mission.

Wishing you all the best,

Tim de Noble, Dean

Art of Architecture Lecture - August 29; 6PM

Make your reservations now for the "Art of Architecture" lecture on August 29, 2016 at 6PM. RSVP to tjackson@ksu.edu.

Art of Architecture

- a companion lecture to go with the current exhibition at The Box Gallery (closing August 26) - discussing the featured models of architectural landmarks - all using the LEGO® brick as a medium.

The exhibit is the work of LEGO Certified Professional Adam Reed Tucker, a former architect and Kansas State University alum who turned to the LEGO brick for inspiration.

The lecture will be at the Center for Architecture & Design, AIA Kansas City on Monday, August 29 at 6pm with a reception following.

Art of Architecture

includes 12 large-scale models that capture the essence of some of the most famous buildings in the world, including the Empire State Building, Jim Mao Tower, the Gateway Arch and the Willis Tower.

After earning degree in Architecture from Kansas State University's College of Architecture, Planning and Design, Tucker worked as an architect throughout the Kansas City and Chicago areas. Adam decided to leave his architecture job to focus on building with a new creative medium, the LEGO brick. In 2007 he became the 7th person to be a Lego Certified Professional -one of only 13 in the world.

Art of Architecture is on display through Aug. 26. The Box Gallery is located in the Commerce Bank Building at 1000 Walnut St., in Downtown KC. Hours are from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday-Friday. Admission is free and open to the public. The exhibit is a partnership with Kansas State University's College of Architecture, Planning and Design.

The lecture will be at Center for Architecture & Design, AIA Kansas City, 1801 McGee Street, KSMO. If attending please RSVP to tjackson@ksu.edu

When you're in Weigel, please bring all library materials you used to the circulation desk, including those items you aren't checking out. Books, media, periodicals - bound volumes and current issues - all need a "browse" scan by staff.

Circulation/browsing statistics are very important for determining what stays and what goes, particularly during lean economic times!

NEW BOOKS ARE ARRIVING IN WEIGEL AGAIN!

Find them on the New Resources shelf, browse through them and then check them out! You'll be glad you did!
