DESIGN | Students Present Class Projects

Students in Studio 4 - Retail & Restaurant Design presented their Retail Design Institute's International Student Design solutions on Friday, May 5 at the Kansas City Design Center. Students were asked to design a high-end eyewear store. Design professionals, family members and friends provided valuable insights on ways students could improve their projects. Based on this feedback, students edited their work and submitted it to the Retail Design Institute's International Student Design Competition.

AWARD | Professor's Design a Standout

IAPD professor, Sebnem Demirkan, has received the Design Intelligence Award from DIA for her entry of ChiaPack, HyroGel Material Made of Chia Seeds in the Design Frontiers Category. DIA are hosted by China Academy of Art and co-organized by the China Industrial Design Association. It is a contemporary innovative platform for the evaluation, promotion and collaboration of design.

AWARD | IAPD Student Recognized for Work

IAPD student, Garrett Steinlage, was named the 2017 IDSA Student Merit Award winner and selected as an IDSA Midwest SMA finalist.

SCHOLARSHIP | APDesign Scholarship Award Letters

Scholarship award letters for 2017-2018 will be sent out to APDesign students beginning in mid-May. The email will originate from Becky O'Donnell (bodonnell@ksu.edu) and be sent out to students via their official ksu.edu email accounts with a subject line of "APDesign Scholarship Award."

Please periodically check your ksu.edu account even after you have left campus in May and pay close attention to the deadlines set out in the award letters.
