Landscape Architecture and Regional & Community Planning Monday Memo 10.17.16

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The LA and RCP Alumni Honorees, Katie Martin and Ryan McKay, will be in town Thursday, Oct 27, and Friday, Oct 28. Please let Jody know by this Wednesday if you are interested in having them visit your class or if you would like to join the group for dinner in the Hibachi Hut conference room on Thursday evening.

The curriculum proposal for the Community Development Graduate Certificate will be distributed for college vote Oct 24-26. Please watch for the call for you to vote and do so. Following unanimous approval of the proposal by LARCP faculty, Huston has worked closely with the APDesign Academic and Curricular Affairs Committee and the Graduate School to ensure a strong, implementable proposal. Your support is important.

The deadline for reporting Spring 2017 term course material adoptions is October 22, 2016. Let's stay off of the Provost's list this time! Please check the line schedule so you report for all sections associated with your name.
You may report course materials online at this link:

OUR CONTRIBUTIONS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

LARCP Students and Faculty are attending the American Society of Landscape Architects meeting in New Orleans, October 21-25.

Dean Tim de Noble will host a reception for all APDesign alumni immediately following the ASLA Alumni Tailgate on October 22 from 6:30 - 8:30 pm at the National WWII Museum.

Department Head and Professor Stephanie Rolley will represent K-State at the ASLA Administrators' Meeting and participate in the Landscape Architecture Foundation Board meeting. She will conduct a Landscape Architectural Accreditation Board workshop with Karl Von Bieberstein, NJB, and Kristopher Pritchard, LAAB, on Friday, October 21.

Assistant Professor Alpa Nawre will present in the "Water Infrastructure for the Livable City" session on Friday, Oct. 21 from 3-5 pm. Additional speakers on this panel include Herbert Dreiseitl, Ramboll Studio Dreiseitl; and Clark Wilson, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Associate Professors Katie Kingery-Page and Huston Gibson are featured in the Fall 2016 ENGAGE magazine, published by the K-State Center for Engagement and Community Development.

Jonathan Knight, MLA student, was selected to participate in the 2016 RDG Residency. The program brings together students from across the US to address a real-world design challenge from a multi-disciplinary perspective. Participating students came from Pratt Institute, Johns Hopkins, the Culinary Arts Institute and many other academic institutions representing disciplines such as cultural geography, industrial design, sustainability, agricultural engineering, education and landscape architecture. You may read more about the event here and watch their concept video here and read about all of the participants here.

Students from the departments of Landscape Architecture and Regional & Community Planning and Architecture visited with stakeholders and toured downtown Clay Center, Kansas on October 13. The visit was part of a community engagement project for students enrolled in Urban Design and Development Seminar led by Associate Professor Blake Belanger. Students develop urban design proposals to enhance the downtown's visibility, identity, livability, and appeal. The class will present their proposals to stakeholders and the public the evening of Nov 7 at Clay Center's Third Thursday event. For more information, click here.
