MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Students, Faculty and Staff,

As you are aware, DesignExpo, scheduled for Monday, March 9, 2015 from 10:00AM-3:00PM at the K-State Alumni Center is rapidly approaching. The list of attending firms is impressive, representing great quality, a wide range of disciplines and a coast-to-coast geographic spread.

While the primary activity of DesignExpo is for those nearing completion of their programs to find employment, it is also an important venue for students of all year levels to network as they identify opportunities for summer employment and internship. It is never too early to get your name, face and work in front of industry representatives and to learn more about each firm's work and standards of excellence. Many of the participating firms are sustaining supporters of our programs through philanthropic involvement in student scholarships, faculty support, excellence, and building funds. Please make an effort to acknowledge their continued commitments and thank them for helping advance our mission. We will provide a listing of our sponsors to assist you in targeting your appreciation. Click here for the list of firms and their support.

So while DesignExpo is a part of our integrated professional development activities, I hope all of you understand that it is also an opportunity for all of us to showcase the collective vitality of APDesign as well as the individual achievements of our students. Remember, these firms are making a significant commitment in time, resources and money to be here to recruit talent and learn more about our college. It is our hope that each and every one of these representatives leave not only hoping to employ our graduates and interns, but as ambassadors of APDesign.

Let's all of us, faculty, staff and students course through the K-State Alumni Center on March 9th to show our appreciation, to make a great impression on our guests and to thank them in their interest in the continued stream of talent coming from APDesign. Thanks to all, especially the committee members working so hard to make this a great event!
