APDESIGN SHOP

Welcome to the APDesign Shop.

For the first time ever all of the APDesign shop technologies (except the CNC plasma cutter) are located in one place in the new APDwest Shop. The joining of the IAPD and college shop creates new opportunities for students and faculty, but not without a few changes to the way we operate in the shop. Please take time to familiarize yourself with the APDesign Shop Policies and Procedures as well as the APDesign Shop Safety rules. The mission of the shop is to provide the safest and best possible learning-by-making environment. These rules, policies, and procedures will help to create a reliable shop facility that enables the exploration and understanding of traditional, digital, and experimental fabrication methodology.

CONSTRUCTION SITE ACCESS

At the College Faculty/Staff Meeting, requests were made to have access to the construction site. From those conversations there have been developed the construction site permission forms and instructions.

WEIGEL LIBRARY - THIRD FLOOR TIDBITS

Student Assistants -

Weigel Library has eight students employed as library assistants for the 2016 spring semester. During Weigel's 77 hours a week of operation, these students are in the library to assist patrons with their research and/or technology questions.

The student assistants are: Brendan Tucker, James Kendall, Jessica Weber, Joe D'Elia, Lee Bickford, Parker Ruskamp, and Taylor Lininger .
When you're in Weigel please ask our student staff members for assistance. They'll be happy to help.

Interlibrary Loan books -

Remember - you can have Hale send your Interlibrary Loan books to Weigel for your convenience.

When you are notified by K-State Libraries that your ILL book has arrived and is ready for pickup in Hale, just respond to that email asking that the book(s) be sent to Weigel.

And then when you're finished with that ILL, bring it back up to Weigel and we'll return it to Hale for you.
