Thank you to all those who came out on Monday evening to attend Gonçalo Byrne's Ekdahl Lecture. There was a great attendance and some beautiful works were shown.

If you haven't been by Seaton this week, the demo has begun and JE Dunn is making great progress.

For all those attending Beaux Arts Ball tonight, have fun and be safe. Use the safe ride option AIAS is providing instead of walking home in the dark. As for me, I'm in Puerto Rico attending the ACSA Administrator's Conference. See you next week.

arch_aias

The night is upon us! The annual Beaux Arts Ball is tonight from 9pm to 2am, with 1st years to 5th years to professors all dressed in their Art Deco best. While tonight is a night of partying and a brief opportunity to not worry about our schoolwork, it is also a night to remember to be responsible. If you are underage, please do not drink or attempt to purchase a drink from Kathouse Lounge, as they have a strict policy to kick every minor out when only one has been found to be breaking the law. This also applies to students over 21: don't buy for the minors. We all came to have a good night and we'll do just that!

We also have two students who will kindly be giving free rides home from 11pm to 2am because nobody likes to walk home in the cold late at night wearing only a dress. They will be parked in front of Mojoes and Cozy Inn Hamburgers next door to Kathouse in marked cars.

I look forward to seeing you all there! Have a great night!

WHR Architects 2016-2017 Tradewell Fellowship (current 5th years)

Named in honor of the late Gary Tradewell, a former Vice President and Medical Planner of WHR, the Tradewell Fellowship was created to build careers of aspiring healthcare architects. Each year, the Tradewell Fellow is involved with clients in early master planning and design with a particular focus on healing environments and collaborative design methods. The year-long Fellowship typically begins and ends in June and includes employment at WHR Architects in Houston.

In addition to working directly with senior medical planners and clients, Fellows receive unique experience and career guidance from leaders in the healthcare industry and a network of past Tradewell Fellows. At the completion of the Fellowship, participants have begun to develop the skills and experiences to become leaders and mentors.

The Tradewell Fellow is someone who wants to be a lifelong learner and mentor to others. In order to develop particular expertise in an area of his or her interest, the Fellow will choose a topic related to the design of healing spaces and create a body of writing or project that is suitable for presentation and/or publication. The Fellow will also receive a scholarship to attend a national healthcare conference, and the opportunity to attend and lead many in-house educational presentations. No two Fellowship years have ever been the same.

Other educational opportunities for the Fellow include: assisting with teaching a graduate level course on health facility planning, design, and construction; participating in evidence-based design activities; and assisting members of the firm in authoring speeches, articles, presentations, or books.

The application for the 2016-2017 Tradewell Fellowship is now open! Apply here now through January 15, 2016.

Kelly Egdorf, K-State Architecture alum of 2009, was awarded the 2009-2010 Tradewell Fellowship and it helped to propel Kelly into the profession early on. The department urges students interested to apply for this fellowship!
