arch_weekly note

Welcome back everyone. The day started on a rather discouraging note, as a water pipe had broken out at APDWest leaving some standing water on the east side. Any classes out there were canceled today so the crews could work on clean up. Hopefully it will be dry and we can be out there again soon.

In the meantime, it started snowing and I took another construction site pic. <https://theta360.com/s/lidXbRLAVeLANC9BDzos2FIO> We continue on.

Have a great week.

Professor and Head

APDWest will be open tomorrow January 20th and classes will be in session. Please be advised to NOT put anything electronic or paper on the wet floors. You run the risk of ruining your computer and/or projects. There will still be crews working on the pipe situation. View the ATA bus schedule here.
