arch_weekly note

Welcome to spring week two. After a wet start, it is good to see that some of our favorite tools are just about to be back on line, such as the laser cutters. You may have noticed a double stacking of tables on the west side of APDWest. We should shortly have tack surfaces installed on the inside of the U-shape to create an additional review space for our department to use. It of course takes time, but working together we can make the most of our temporary home.

Lastly, for our students, I want to encourage you to work as much as possible out at APDWest in your studio and with your classmates. It may be inconvenient at times and I understand, but if you want to get the max out of your education, working alone at home is not in your best interest. If you want to see mediocre work, go visit a school where students don't work in studio. You are all too good and too filled with architecture student pride to let that happen.

Have a great week.

The Teaching and Learning Center is hosting the Mid-Year Workshop presented by the Faculty Exchange for Teaching Excellence Friday, February 5th from 8:15 am to 5:30 pm at the Alumni Center. The Keynote Address will be delivered by Dr. Jean Twenge, author of Generation Me and co-author of The Narcissism Epidemic. Dr. Twenge's book is unique in that it summarizes a large amount of psychological and behavioral data collected at different times regarding generational differences. She will discuss how the technology trends, starting around 1995, are shaping the current generation. There will also be a faculty discussion following the keynote with Dr. Twenge. To register for this workshop and review the schedule click here.

K-State's "Italian without Words" is Thursday, January 28th. Enjoy a screening of the documentary "La voce del corpo" (The Voice of the Body) at 10:00 am in Forum Hall followed by a Q&A with the director, Luca Vullo. It will be followed by an interactive workshop on the art of Italian gesture in Room 227 in the union at 11:30 am.

APPLY FOR SCHOLARSHIPS! Odds are much better than trying to win the lottery. Applications due February 1. All scholarships consider academic performance and some require financial need as a basis for consideration in addition to academic performance and other considerations. Students with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or better are strongly encouraged to apply. Last year over 170 students in the College received some form of scholarship support. For more information click here.

The 2016-2017 Study Aboard pre-application deadline is 5:00 p.m. Friday, February 5, 2016. Complete your pre-application online at <http://www.k-state.edu/studyabroad/>
