arch_weekly note

Congratulations everyone for finishing what has been an adventurous year for the department. While moving out to APDWest offered many challenges, your resilience and passion for education resulted in work that, as usual makes me proud to be a part of K-State Architecture. While next year will bring many of the same challenges, I have zero doubt we will raise our game and exceed our expectations.

For those graduating, congratulations and we all wish you success and much happiness in your bright futures. For the rest, please have a fantastic summer and come back refreshed and even smarter than you are now by reading some good books on architecture.

Lastly, congratulations to Kari on her wedding last Saturday finishing her master's degree and my daughter Kathy, graduating from K-State this Saturday.

Best,

Matthew Knox AIA
Professor and Head

arch_ announcements

Congratulations to Kelly Pyle of Professor Susanne Siepl-Coates' studio, winner of the 2016 Heintzelman Prize for her project "A Pediatric Hospice House" and to the el dorado design + make studio, winners of the 2016 Kremer Prize for their Tallgrass Prairie Orientation Station project.

Students must have all belongings removed from APDWest no later than midnight on Saturday, May 14th. APDWest will close at midnight May 14th and will remain closed throughout the summer.

Students taking on campus studios in the summer will be in Seaton on the third floor. You can move into your new studio on May 20th.

Are you interested in working in Weigel Library in the fall?

The majority of the current Weigel Library student staff will graduate May 14 and new assistants are needed for Fall 2016. Employment hours range from 7 to 10 per week for Weigel assistants.

To be considered for employment a completed application, available in Weigel, Seaton 323, must include a copy of your official K SIS fall class schedule using the "Weekly Calendar View". Application deadline is Tuesday, May 10.

Hiring decisions will be made during the summer. Both successful and unsuccessful candidates will be notified of employment decisions.
