arch_weekly note

I am happy to be back after spending my Sunday morning running a marathon in Eugene, Oregon. Yes, I survived, but only because I thought about you all working hard to finish your projects. If you, our students, have the discipline, motivation and passion to finish, I knew I had to keep running in solidarity. Clearly your efforts are fruitful as the work I have seen so far has blown me away and I know there is lots more to see this week. I am always impressed with our fifth-year students and their ability to produce work truly representative of their education. Please stop by the Heintzelman Kremer Jury this Friday to see what the fifth years have done and start envisioning the fantastic work you will do in your final year. And for our fifth-year students, please take this week to bask in your accomplishments. It is well deserved.

Have a great week.
