APDesign student trip to Rome

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

First, congratulations to all involved in planning and those participating in DesignExpo! It was an amazing event, well attended by 75 prospective employers and loads of students of all year levels and disciplines. I visited with every single employee...and not a one offered me a position! I just don't have the necessary skills! Seriously, many thanks to the committee and to Danna Vogeli and Andrew Kohls for their coordination on a superb event. Also, thanks to all of our faculty for urging and allowing your students time to participate. Our hearty showing bodes well for future robustness of this event and the support of the firms involved for our programs.

Many of you are on field study trips this week so your travels will stretch across the next two weeks, including the spring break. I certainly hope everyone has a safe and fruitful Spring Break. When you return, we will be on the final push towards the conclusion of the academic year, and for those 5th years, to commencement! Of all the endearing capacities I recognize in our students, perhaps none is more obvious than your ability to finish strong!

For those of you at APDWest, this is the swansong of this space for us, although it will be used by others at the university. Please continue to treat the space with respect and also be respectful of the custodians who continue to care for the space and by extension, your relative comfort.

Finally, although I still am not a fan of getting up in the dark, I truly love daylight savings time! Evenings in Kansas are spectacular! No matter how much work you have to accomplish, take advantage of the extra light and soon-to-arrive wonderful weather to get a few hours of exercise. It will make your decision making clearer and your work better!

No entries may be accepted during spring break week as there will be no power in Seaton Hall at that time. Entries may be brought to 214 Seaton starting March 27, 2017

SHOP HOURS- SPRING BREAK

The shop will be closed from Saturday, March 18- Sunday, March 26. If you have any questions regarding shop hours, please email rht@ksu.edu.

WEIGEL LIBRARY

Spring Break in Weigel -

At this time...

Weigel Library will be open the week of Spring Break, March 20 to 24, Monday through Friday, 8 am to 5 pm. The library will be closed the two "bookend" weekends, March 18 and 19, and March 25 and 26. Regular hours of operation will resume on Monday, March 27 when Weigel opens at 8 am.

BUT...

the planned power outage in parts of Seaton during break could adversely affect Internet connectivity in Weigel, meaning no technology - computers, scanners, printers; no K-State Libraries' catalog; only paper and pencil checkouts (just like in the old days)!

Due to the uncertainty of this situation and the possible impact on Weigel, hours and accessibility will be determined and publicized on Monday, March 20th at the latest.

TWO KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY APDESIGN FACULTY MEMBERS RECEIVE PROMOTION

Earning promotion to the rank of associate professor is: Anne Beamish, landscape architecture and regional & community planning and Michael Gibson, architecture.

Kansas State University President Richard Myers and Provost and Senior Vice President April Mason will congratulate all newly tenured and promoted faculty members at a reception in the spring.

"Each of our new tenured and promoted faculty members have made significant contributions through their teaching, scholarly endeavors and service to their departments, college, our university and their professions. We celebrate these outstanding achievements with them," Mason said.

"Our most heartfelt congratulations go out to these two well deserving faculty members," said Tim de Noble, Dean of the College of Architecture, Planning & Design. "We all look forward to their continuing contributions to our academic excellence."

LAUNCH PROGRAM

Kansas State University seeks innovative startup ideas for Launch a Business program

MANHATTAN - Kansas State University is seeking applications from Kansas-based startups to participate in its fourth annual K-State Launch a Business program, powered by KS State Bank.

The program, also known as LAB, provides entrepreneurs much-needed resources including faculty-led courses, hands-on student research teams and access to the world-class K-State alumni mentor network. It is specifically intended for early-stage companies and is designed to provide the building blocks for turning a concept into a successful venture.

As many as 25 high-potential startup ventures or concepts will be selected for participation in the Launch a Business program, including up to 10 companies from Global Food Systems industries. Each venture that successfully completes the program will receive $1,500 and is eligible to participate in the culminating Launch Party, where a total of $80,000 in additional prizes will be awarded.

"The Launch a Business program allows us to share our expertise with the community," said Chad Jackson, director of the university's Center for the Advancement of Entrepreneurship. "Our faculty, alumni and students are incredible resources, and we are excited to ask them to volunteer to support the next great startup ventures. We are grateful to KS State Bank for making this possible."

Kansas-based startup founders with scalable, for-profit businesses or ideas are invited to apply until 5 p.m. Friday, April 14. Criteria for selection include identifying a real problem and an innovative solution, demonstrating the drive to succeed and ability to incorporate feedback, and showing commitment to the idea.

The program will take place throughout the month of June, giving the chosen finalists several opportunities to attend workshops and mentoring sessions. Program organizers invite all alumni and supporters of Kansas State University and the regional startup ecosystem to mark their calendars for the closing celebration Launch Party on June 29. The event will feature presentations from all Launch a Business participants.

There is no charge to apply or participate. More details, including the online application form, can be found at k-state.edu/lab.
