The College of Architecture, Planning & Design - 2017 Alumni Fellow - Rick Martin

Rick Martin, Kansas City, Missouri, is a founder and senior principal of Populous - the world's leading design firm of sports and convention facilities. His design portfolio includes the Sprint Center in Kansas City, Missouri, Intrust Bank Arena in Wichita, Kansas, and new arenas for the Pittsburgh Penguins, the Houston Rockets, Orlando Magic and Atlanta Hawks. His K-State projects include expansions of Bill Snyder Family Stadium and the Ice Family Basketball Center.

Martin has been involved with K-State as a member and chair of the Dean's Advisory Council for the College of Architecture, Planning and Design and the KSU Foundation Board of Trustees. Additionally, Martin and his wife, Renay, endowed a scholarship for worthy students from smaller Kansas communities to study architecture. They have two children, Ryan and Rhys. Ryan graduated from K-State in 2004. Martin also served on the Foundation Board of the International Association of Venue Managers and lent his support to such community causes as the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, YMCA Challenger Program and Wayside Waifs.

Work by students from Kansas State University's College of Architecture, Planning & Design, or APDesign, for the annual Ted and Sue Knapp Delineation Competition is on display in the Chang Gallery at Seaton Hall through Friday, April 28. The gallery is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

The annual competition was open to all students at APDesign, including those in the articulated program at the University of Missouri, Kansas City. The competition is sponsored by Ted Knapp, a 1964 Kansas State University architecture alumnus, and his wife Sue. Competition awards include $1,000 for best in show-first place. First place in each competition category earns $250, while honorable mention earns $100.

The competition jury included Ted Knapp, principal at TK Architects, Kansas City; Brianna Sprague, graphic designer for APDesign.

"This competition, and the resulting exhibit of beautiful work, remains one of our most important annual events as it showcases

GA Houses - Resource of the Week

It is never too late in the semester to discover an awesome resource that can be useful for your project work, 1st year to 5th year. GA Houses documents outstanding new residential architecture from all over the world. Weigel Library has been receiving GA Houses since the first volume in 1976. With checkout periods of 30 or 120 days, GA Houses can be found in the library stacks at NA 7126 .G13.

Student assistants needed Fall 2017

A number of Weigel student assistants will graduate this May, vacating staff positions that will need to be filled for Fall 2017. Employment hours range from 7 to 10 per week for Weigel assistants.

To be considered for employment, pick up an application in Weigel, Seaton 323. The deadline for applications to be returned is Tuesday, May 9. Please include a copy of your official KSIS fall class schedule using the "Weekly Calendar View". Both successful and unsuccessful applicants will be notified of employment decisions early summer.

The library is missing a MAC adapter from their AV cart. If you used this please return it right away.

APDPro

So you have a "good" camera on your phone and use Photoshop to enhance your images. Perhaps, you've used an SLR camera abroad or for family events and considered buying one. Shouldn't you want to take better photographs of your projects? This session will teach you how to adjust aperture, depth of field, lighting, white balance, and composition to produce evocative photos for personal use as well as document your academic work for your professional portfolio.
